Foot in Carbon Trading Door for Small Nations?

08.2011

By: GRACIELA CHICHILNISKY

In June 2009, a group of 43 small island nations helped to pass a U.N. General Assembly Resolution to place the issue of global warming for the first time under the aegis of the powerful U.N. Security Council.^[1]

This landmark advisory resolution underscores the seriousness of the global warming crisis, and the increasing difficult problems that may result from it.

The Security Council is all about war. It is the part of the United Nations that has most power and resources.

This unexpected resolution was passed by the smallest nations on earth - nations who are most at risk from raising sea levels caused by global warming. They succeeded against the votes of the United States and Russia, in an example of global democracy at work.

Yet this impressive diplomatic success does not bring real and tangible solutions. As global warming causes temperature increases and rising sea levels, hundreds of millions of people are at risk. The permafrost in Alaska and Greenland are already melting as the air and seas warm, and entire towns in Alaska may need to be relocated.^[2] This has the potential to be the largest humanitarian emergency of our times.

The world's scientists increasingly believe that reducing carbon emissions will not work, and that there is little that adaptation to a warming climate or efforts to slow greenhouse gas emissions can do for the small island nations. What is needed is a concerted effort to reduce immediately the carbon already in the atmosphere and arrest the worst catastrophic effects of global warming. At a September meeting in New York, President Mohamed Nasheed of the Maldives and his energy minister said they believe hundreds of millions of people in small island states risk perishing under the seas. He confirmed that his government is buying land in India as a possible long term solution in case his entire island nation disappears.

He also said he supports using negative carbon technology – machinery to capture and store carbon already in the atmosphere -- and believes in what it could do for regions that will be the hardest hit by climate change, including small island nations and poorer countries in Africa and Latin America. These regions could potentially host some of the technologies and earn money or carbon credit from the Kyoto Protocol carbon market and its Clean Development Mechanism. In this way, a strong Kyoto Carbon Market could help replace or supplement the faltering global war on emissions.

Following their diplomatic success in pushing climate change before the U.N. Security Council, the smallest and most vulnerable nations on earth should now go a step further and use their moral power at climate negotiations in Copenhagen in December 2009. AOSIS, the Alliance of Small Island States, should push through a small extension of the carbon market to include negative carbon technology. That could lead to a win-win solution at Copenhagen.

By "sucking carbon" from the atmosphere, air capture technology could begin shifting funds available through Kyoto's Clean Development Mechanism from bigger economies to some of the smallest nations. Africa, as a continent, produces 3 percent of global carbon emissions so has gained little from the mechanism, which channels funding to developing countries trying to cut their carbon emissions. But if Africa and Latin American began using negative carbon technology to pull carbon dioxide directly from the atmosphere, they could potentially attract substantial funding through the mechanism. Because negative carbon technology now being developed runs on waste heat from power plants, energy-poor countries would also gain by building new zero-emission power plants. This solution could benefit the United States and the European Union as well. Negative carbon is a U.S. technology that the U.K. Royal Academy has recently sanctioned, and is becoming a real possibility for overcoming global warming. It requires about $3 trillion in resources deployed over 15 years - or about $200 billion per year. This is a large sum but is the right size to stimulate the global economy. More importantly, the funding could come from the Kyoto Protocol's carbon market and its Clean Development Mechanism. All that is needed is a rather small modification to existing law in Copenhagen.

This solution can create energy sources in poor nations, technology jobs in industrial nations, and can increase U.S. and European exports - at the same time that it sucks carbon from the atmosphere and decreases the risk of catastrophic climate change.

^[1] Deeply concerned about the possible security implications of climate change, the General Assembly today invited the major organs of the United Nations, including the Security Council, to intensify their efforts to address the challenge, as appropriate and within their respective mandates. Unanimously adopting a draft resolution on follow-up to the outcome of the Millennium Summit and titled "Climate change and its possible security implications" (document A/63/L.8/Rev.1), the Assembly also requested the Secretary-General to submit to its next session a comprehensive report on those implications, based on the views of Member States and regional and international organizations. <http://www.un.org/News/Press/docs/2009/ga10830.doc.htm>

[2] NY Times, Sunday May 27th, 2007, "Engulfed by Climate Change, Town seeks Lifeline" by W. Yardley, front page. The permanently frozen subsoil, known as permafrost, upon which the town of Newtok and many other Native Alaskan villages rest is melting, yielding to warming air temperatures and a warming ocean. Erosion has already made Newtok an island, the village is now below sea level and sinking, and studies say that the entire town will be washed away in a decade. The US Army Corps of Engineers has estimated that to move Newtok could cost at least $130 million, which comes to almost $413,000 for each of its 315 residents, <http://www.nytimes.com/2007/05/27/us/27newtok.html>

- Although Team National's regular membership application reflects very clear cost as well as representatives - or even Independent Marketing Owners (or even IMDs) while these are known - who seem to largely want to advertise coach factory store the aspects of the membership in order to get sales will not make much money with Team National. As with all MLM home businesses, MLM and internet home based businesses, creating a sustainable, booming, walk-away residual income requires leverage in the form of team building. Through building teams, you can multiply your efforts to get not just a few membership packages purchased; in fact, it's possible <http://www.aicon.com/coachfactory.html> to get hundreds and thousands of memberships purchased through your network from which you receive your override so-to-speak (just like an insurance broker receives an "override" on the accomplishments of their people). The actual Company Nationwide reimbursement package provided is also one of several superior models in the simply because of how much money is Company Nationwide makes sense available. The reason being the company makes sense available 72% with the cost coach outlet online factory of the memberships back to the reps in commissions and bonuses with their hybrid binary structure. This unusually high compensation amount - they talk about weekly pay for your first "Progression check" of $1,500 - is because there is no needed product markup or profit margin added onto the price of the membership. This enables the company to negotiate <http://cheapcoachfactorybackpacks2i.webs.com> these savings based on the group's high-volume buying power (just like a nationwide co-op). This again is one main advantage Team National has over its rivals in the industry.

- When organising a wedding party, expenses can also add up very quickly. Placing a marriage budget is advisable to help keep your financial situation on track. You need every day to be unforgettable, but not still be spending money on it in your 10th season wedding anniversary. This post will present you with some great suggestions for budgeting the wedding costs. A terrific way to cut costs is to think about different kinds of roof top insulation for your redesigning undertaking. Different various kinds of efficiency have already been developed more than recent years that actually work even better than ordinary fiberglass heat retaining material. A couple of good examples are foam that addresses the underside from the roofing deck, and sections that are reduce and laid out to reflect the heat well before it even actually gets to your attic room. If you've just experienced a loss, dismiss any signals you will need to obtain your revenge in the marketplace. You'll just tie up increase your initiatives on one currency when missing out on other options. Ensuring your success is not really defined by a single decrease, but it may be defined by how well it is possible to move ahead as a result. Children reap the benefits of getting their particular personalized handbag when you are traveling. A small rucksack is fine as well as the much more option they have got with what to put involved with it the greater amused they are in the trip. Usually get pencils, pieces of paper, and crayons. Tuck inside a map of the location, maybe a hand held xbox game, a pair of ear cell phones, plus a snack or too. One more crucial inclusion over these bags is really a package deal of newborn wipes. If you are eating necessary protein you have to be sure that they have very little extra fat as you can. You should select lean slashes of meat and try to trim the maximum amount of of the extra fat from the meat since you can. You need to broil or make them rather than frying them. Decide on the specific utilization of a credit card well before opting to get one. Trying to get a charge card just to have one is definitely a bad concept. Ensure that you have a desire for the bank card and should be able to have the repayments into it prior to getting a single. <http://www.gmra-carolinas.com/index.php/member/42546/> <http://www.freshwaterslsc.com/member/59236> <http://www.gmra-carolinas.com/index.php/member/43041/> <http://www.gmra-carolinas.com/index.php/member/42546/> <http://www.freshwaterslsc.com/member/59236> <http://conexion.comuf.com/index.php?p=blogs/viewstory/132700> <http://boztekt.net/blog/2009/10/07/install-lamp-stack-source-mac-os-x-106-snow-leopard-using-homebrew#comment-3701365> <http://www.7g8g.org:8052/bbs/forum.php?mod=viewthread&tid=423402> <http://gxcy.gxnet.com/forum.php?mod=viewthread&tid=1000364> <http://friends.hacker-community.org/index.php?p=blogs/viewstory/553156> <http://www.o-talk.com/HOME/HK/viewthread.php?tid=2665217&extra=page%3D1&frombbs=1> <http://www.net999.cn/website/testweb/yiren/forum/forum.php?mod=viewthread&tid=966102> <http://3rong.com.cn.h001.59cn.cn/bbs/forum.php?mod=viewthread&tid=420766> <http://mobileelite.net/content/fournissant-une-nouvelle-preuve-que-les-consommateurs%C2%AB-penny> <http://www.sepforum.net/content/de-maintenir-une-meilleure-sant%C3%A9> <http://www.jiatugz.com/forum.php?>
